

The past two weeks for Task Force 1-6 Field Artillery have been extremely busy. Task Force 1-6 soldiers were involved in an operation to disrupt Anti-Iraqi Forces near the town of Buhriz on 25 July. The operation involved the Iraqi Security Forces and Task Force 1-6 soldiers clearing the palm groves of enemy and weapons caches. These caches included several mortar tubes, RPG rounds, tank rounds, and fuses. During the clearance operations, Anti-Iraqi Forces (ISF) attacked the Iraqi Security Forces with small arms and

The ISF took the fight to the enemy and killed 15 insurgents without a single casualty. Task Force 1-6 supported the operation. Task Force 1-6 soldiers also continued to improve the relationship with its neighbors, by taking time this week to visit the District of Shifta. Soldiers met with local leaders and talked about infrastructure needs and how to improve the safety of the district.
